SHOOTING AT NORTH SHORE INN

The sound of a single gunshot rang through the lobby and hall of the North Shore Inn and Suites on Country Road 37, in Garrison on Friday night around 10:20 p.m.

There was also a printer and multiple other items from behind the front desk that were destroyed. The motel night manager, Brandon Jenkins heard the gunshot and came up to see what the commotion was.

According to North Shore Inn and Suites owner David Jeffery, "He (the subject Jason Chamberlain, 45) then walked towards the front door and when our night manager opened his door, he pointed the gun at him and attempted to fire at him, but his gun malfunctioned, and he left."

PITCH PERFECT: MCLEAN COUNTY MUSIC FESTIVAL CELEBRATES TALENT AND DEDICATION

On Saturday, March 1, the McLean County Music Festival brought together young musicians from various schools to showcase their talents. The event featured students displaying their hard work and passion for music.

One of the judges, Brian Saylor, Director of Choral Activities at Bismarck High School, provided insightful feedback to the students. "Think about phrasing," Saylor suggested to a participant. "Ask yourself, 'What do I want the overall phrase to sound like?' and follow that through. Create that dynamic contrast." To a group ensemble, he gently advised, "Battle that internal nervousness. Take a deep breath, step forward, and be confident that you did the work."

BRIGHT BEGINNINGS

In the small, close-knit community of Washburn, the significance of day care facilities has become increasingly evident as the population of young children continues to rise. With 407 pre-K to 12th grade students enrolled at Washburn Public School, 237 of whom are elementary aged, the need for quality childcare is more pressing than ever.

As Penny Veit-Hetleved, superintendent of Washburn Public School, explained, day care providers play a crucial role in the town's population growth and the overall well-being of its young residents.

BEULAH'S DOSTAL WORKS WITH REP. NOVAK ON STUDENT VOTING BILL

Zofia Dostal's dream is to, one day, become a congress woman. And with the help of one North Dakota politician, the 2024 Beulah High School graduate already has tasted a bit of real legislation.

House Bill 1178 was introduced to the North Dakota state legislature Jan. 7, a bill that will allow students ages 18 and older to be excused from a campus to vote in elections. The bill, which a committee hearing was held to discuss it further March 5, was Dostal's creation, with the help of Rep. Anna Novak, R Hazen, who worked with Dostal last year to draft the bill.

$2M DONATION STILL A MYSTERY TO CENTER'S CITY COUNCIL

The city of Center is still trying to figure out where a large sum of money originated and will look to the North Dakota Department of Treasury to find some answers.

In January, the city received $2.17 million in its direct deposit account, but the city wasn't able to tell where the donation came from. After holding a special meeting Jan. 24, the city decided to put the mystery money in a three month CD account through its bank, at First Security Bank.

At the city's March 3 regular council meeting, the topic was discussed again. City Auditor RaShell Simenson informed council she had communication with the Treasury Department and discovered the city can find out where the money came from but, according to North Dakota Century Code 57-39.2 23, it cannot disclose that information to the public.
